1. Course Description

How do some firms gain a sustainable competitive advantage over industry rivals while others struggle to survive? How do factors such as a firm's internal and external environment impact the selection and implementation of the strategy? How do new firms effectively plan and execute strategies that will enable them to compete against established firms successfully? How do some firms align activities to support their chosen strategies, while others seem to struggle with alignment issues frequently? These are examples of the types of questions we aim to answer in our study of strategic management. The course aims to foster an integrated, cross-functional perspective that develops the analytical and decision-making skills necessary to navigate organizational uncertainties and business realities. To achieve these objectives, a balance of theory and practice will be applied through a combination of textbook readings, forum discussions, and real-life business examples and cases.

2. Course Details

Course Learning Objectives	This course has two primary objectives. The first is to provide students with a robust understanding and application of business and corporate strategies, particularly in formulating and implementing them. The second is to ensure that students can illustrate how HR practices differ under various corporate strategies to support their competitive advantages. Students who complete this course should achieve the following learning objectives: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Discuss what a business strategy is and the process of creating a distinctive one for each organization.</li><li>2. Assess the external environment of firms and demonstrate how external factors influence organizations in deciding how to gain and sustain their competitive advantages.</li><li>3. Assess the internal environment of firms and demonstrate how organizations capitalize on internal factors to achieve and sustain their competitive advantage.</li><li>4. Illustrate how organizational competitive advantage influences firm performance.</li><li>5. Evaluate various business strategies that define and enhance how organizations achieve their competitive advantage.</li><li>6. Determine how to formulate a corporate strategy that aligns with the business strategy and identifies where to compete.</li><li>7. Derive how firms implement their strategies through organizational design, including formulating organizational structures, creating organizational cultures, and designing control and rewards systems that support their strategy.</li><li>8. Demonstrate how HR activities and practices support various organizational strategies, specifically when it comes to the following: managing workforce flow, developing human capital, managing reward systems, and managing performance.</li></ol>

4. Assessment

The assessment criteria abide by the Graduate Grades and Records Policy: http://catalogs.rutgers.edu/generated/nb-grad\_current/pg69.html. Moreover, it is helpful to read the New Brunswick Graduate Catalog to know your rights and obligations at http://catalogs.rutgers.edu/generated/nb-grad\_current/pg43.html. The following table lists the assessment methods and their weight:

Method	Percent
Quizzes	30%
Forums	20%
Group Project	25%
Individual Project	25%
Total	100%

The following table lists the Grading and Point System assigned by the university:

Percent	Grade	Description	Grade Points
90-100%	A	Outstanding	4.0
87-89%	B+		3.5
80-86%	B	Good	3.0
77-79%	C+		2.5
70-76%	C	Satisfactory	2.0
≤ 69%	F	Failing	1.0

A. Quizzes

In total, you will have to take 10 quizzes, each covering the 10 major topics in this course. Each quiz consists of 10 True/False questions and 10 multiple-choice questions, totaling 20 questions. You will have permission to repeat each quiz twice, and the final attempt score will be counted towards your final grade. The quizzes aim to ensure that students cover all the lectures. You have the flexibility to take the quiz at any time during the assigned week, and it is not monitored. Therefore, their primary aim is educative, not punitive.

B. Forum Discussions

Forum discussions aim to debate questions that address the week's subject issues. Students are expected to actively participate in the online forum discussions, interact, reflect, exchange ideas, and expand their knowledge base. Students are encouraged to post and interact with one another as much as possible. That said, at a minimum, students must post an initial contribution that addresses the forum question. The initial contribution should be posted at least during the first three days of the assigned period. The initial contribution will be assessed based on its content, demonstrated analytical thinking, and references used, if any. Second, the student should actively collaborate and respond to other posts throughout the assigned period. At a minimum, the student should reply twice to others – in addition to the initial contribution. The collaboration will be assessed based on content and engagement, demonstrated analytical thinking, and the quality of references. Additionally, students will be evaluated based on the quality of their writing. The quality of writing will be evaluated based on clarity, mechanics, and organization.

The following is the breakdown of each forum discussion assessment:

Assessment Category	Assessment Criteria
Initial Contribution (45%)	Content Contribution (20%)
	Analytical Thinking (20%)
	References (5%)
Collaboration (45%)	Content Contribution and Engagement (20%)
	Analytical Thinking (20%)
	References (5%)
Quality of Writing (10%)	Clarity and mechanics (5%)
	Organization (5%)

For more details on how to maximize your score, please refer to the forum discussion rubrics.

C. Assignments

Students will have several assignments during the course. Those assignments comprise several parts of the final individual project. The assignments aim to ensure that students reflect on the course material within the context of their chosen organization, typically their current or past employer, if they are currently unemployed.

D. Individual Project

The individual project consists of four parts, aiming to reflect on the course content within the context of the course and link this content to the HR strategy and practices. The following are the project parts:

- Part I: Background on the organization of choice, typically your current employer or past employer.
- Part II: SWOT analysis of the organization.
- Part III: Explaining and Assessing the Business Strategy of the organization.
- Part IV: Assessing the HR strategy and its alignment with the business strategy. Recommending changes to the HR strategy and practices to serve the business strategy better and to contribute to the organizational strengths by minimizing organizational weaknesses.

Please note that additional details will be provided in the project description on Canvas.

5. Course Requirements and Instructor Expectations

- Students are expected to read all the required readings and cover the week's lecture early on. This increases the learning experience and elevates the interaction level among students in the discussion forums.
- Students are expected to participate in discussion forums to fulfill the learning outcomes actively. Please note that discussion forums are evaluated and contribute to your final grade.
- Students are asked to check Canvas frequently – at least every 24 hours. Course materials, including additional readings, media, valuable links, and announcements, will be added regularly to enhance your learning experience.
- All required materials for the course are subject to formal assessment, even if they were not covered in the lecture. Remember that the instructor is merely a facilitator of your learning experience. Attaining the utmost knowledge of the course subjects is highly dependent on individual effort and peer interaction.
- For every three credits of study, students should expect to commit at least 100 hours of their time to coursework, self-study, and revision.
- The instructor will continuously provide feedback whenever a student requests help. Students are encouraged to contact their instructor for one-on-one sessions if needed.
- Students are expected to behave professionally. Failing to do so will affect your forum discussion grade. The following are some guidelines:
  - Students are expected to participate in forum discussions on time with adequate quality and quantity of replies.
  - Revise your work before posting your initial contribution and replies, as you will not be able to modify your post once you submit it.
  - Add something new to justify your position when posting in the forums. Do not only post if you agree or don't agree with your peers' replies. Instead, justify your comment with appropriate references, analysis, and linkages.
  - Students are expected to behave ethically and respectfully towards their instructor and peers.
  - Misconduct in forum discussions, chatting, and other forums and forms of communication will not be tolerated.
  - Make sure not to use all capital letters while replying to your peer. In case you want to emphasize a keyword or a point, use italics, bold, or asterisks.
  - For further information on the discussion forum's rubrics and how to behave ethically and professionally in an online course, please refer to the guidelines on the course website.

6. Academic Honesty and Code of Conduct

Students are expected to abide by Rutgers's Academic Integrity Policy and Code of Student Conduct. Acts of cheating, plagiarism, forgery, fabrication, or misrepresentation are not tolerated and will be addressed in accordance with the university's policies and procedures. If you have doubts about committing an act of potential academic dishonesty, please contact the course instructor for guidance. Moreover, you are advised to check the websites of the Office of Academic Integrity at <http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/> and the Office of Student Conduct at <http://studentconduct.rutgers.edu/>. Alternatively, you can refer to the undergraduate catalog section for academic integrity at http://catalogs.rutgers.edu/generated/nb-ug\_current/pg1370.html and the section for the code of conduct at http://catalogs.rutgers.edu/generated/nb-ug\_current/pg1373.html.

7. Communication Guidelines

When corresponding with your instructor and classmates via email or discussion forums, please take the time to use grammatically correct language and maintain a positive tone. Please also refrain from using all CAPITAL LETTERS, as this is often interpreted as shouting. Always treat your instructor and fellow students respectfully in all communications.

8. Attendance Policy

Participation in all discussion forums shall be expected. Submitting all assessments on time is also likely to be the case. Failure to participate in discussion forums with no authentic excuse will negatively affect your grade. Failure to submit an assessment on time will result in a grade of zero.

Rutgers University Attendance Policy has assigned the following recognized grounds for absences:

1. Illness requiring medical attention (written proof is needed).
2. Curricular or extracurricular activities approved by the faculty.
3. Personal obligations claimed by the student and recognized as valid (pre-approved by the instructor unless it is a family emergency).
4. Recognized religious holidays (please refer to the links at the end of this section).
5. Severe inclement weather causing dangerous traveling conditions (Rutgers University usually cancels classes when the weather conditions are not safe for the commute) – this condition is invalid as the course is delivered online and requires no transportation.

As a general guideline, students must obtain the instructor's approval before taking an absence, unless it is an emergency. At least two weeks' notice is required before any examination date. If the cause of absenteeism is legitimate, the instructor will work with the student to make up any missed exercises and examinations. The following links further clarify the attendance policy:

9. Technical Requirements

There are no special technical prerequisites, but, as the course delivery and communication take place via the screen, students will benefit from consistent, secure access to a personal computer with up-to-date word processing and graphics software (including Flash and video players). A high-speed Internet connection is also recommended. The following are some basic hardware and software requirements:

1. An up-to-date computer (usually no older than 2-3 years. Students need to ensure that their computers are functional, as it is their responsibility).
2. Broadband connection with reliable internet access.
3. Voice input (Microphone) and output hardware.
4. A webcam (800 x 600 resolution or better).
5. Operating System (Windows 7, 8, or higher / Mac OSX 10.7 Lion or higher).
6. Microsoft Word & PowerPoint.
7. Adobe Flash Player.
8. Adobe Reader (PDF reader).
9. A Media Player.

10. Special Needs and Accommodation

“Rutgers University welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. To receive consideration for reasonable accommodations, a student with a disability must contact the appropriate disability services office at the campus where they are officially enrolled, participate in an intake interview, and provide documentation: <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/documentation-guidelines>. If the documentation supports your request for reasonable accommodation, your campus's disability services office will provide you with a Letter of Accommodation. Please share this letter with your instructors and discuss the accommodation with them as soon as possible in your courses. To begin this process, please complete the registration form on the ODS website at <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students/registration-form>. For additional information, please visit the Office of Disability Services website at <https://ods.rutgers.edu/students>.

11. Student Resources & Scholarships

If you require any help in the areas of (a) mental health, (b) academic coaching, and (c) financial assistance:

<https://smlr.rutgers.edu/about-smlr/fall-2022-information-smlr-students>

Additional resources are available at the Dean of Students office: <http://deanofstudents.rutgers.edu/resources-and-support/>

For SMLR's scholarship offerings: <https://smlr.rutgers.edu/academic-programs/scholarships>

12. Tentative Schedule

This is a fully asynchronous online course. Thus, meeting deadlines assigned in the course modules is vital. Self-management is an essential skill to stay on track with the course. The course will be delivered over approximately 15 weeks, with each week featuring an assigned module. Please refer to the course website for more details. Modules include:

- Lectures covering the main course topics: concepts, theories, and practices.
- Formal assessments of students' knowledge for each lecture
- Discussion forums that contextualize course topics with real-world business examples, enhancing knowledge sharing and interaction among session attendees, including the instructor. In addition, they aim to refine your analytical and communication skills.
- Assignments and a project that will contextualize your knowledge in an organizational context.

Note: The course schedule is tentative, and the instructor reserves the right to modify it as needed.

Good luck and welcome to the Course!
